Image requests and rights of use

Photographic/image material related to works of art in the Würth Collection is managed by the Image Archive of the Würth Collection.

Every use of the image material is subject to a fee which is based on the medium, type and extent of usage. The picture fee must be agreed upon in advance, a non-binding inquiry is free of charge for the time being. Please use the present form for inquiring about rights of use and image material, fill it out and return it to us. We will process your inquiry as quickly as possible and inform you about the expenses for the production of repro proof image files and the usage fees before the final order.

Please also note that reproduction permissions granted relate only to the photo provided. Copyrights to the artwork must be clarified with the copyright holder in the event of publication! This also applies to privately taken photographs in the event of publication

Thank you very much.

Additional remarks

Terms of use

- In principle, only the non-exclusive, one-time right in line with the information provided is granted.
- Passing on the rights to third party, permanent storage and reproduction of the material is prohibited.
- On publication, the user is obliged to disclose sources and names. This information is specified precisely by the Würth Collection.
The user must ensure that markers of copyright and origin must be clearly identifiable on the published image.
- Upon request, the user must submit a file of the layout for inspection before printing.
- Unsolicited and free of charge, the Würth Collection receives a complete record for its reference library.
- If used on the Internet, the URL of the corresponding spot is to be reported.
- The processing of requests and the use of images are subject to fees and costs.
- The fees are calculated on the basis of the publication data. Invoicing occurs after the user has approved the costs and prior to the use of the images.
- Before every use of visual motifs representing works of art still protected by copyright (copyright until 70 years after the artist's death), you additionally have to obtain the rights of use for the respective work of art from the respective holder of rights. Possible charges to be incurred are not included in our fees.
- Pictures ordered for private use only must not be used for any other purpose. They must neither be reproduced nor passed on to third party.
- Any modification of the reference image (also in parts or excerpts) is prohibited.
- In case of failure to report use, unauthorized use or passing on the image material to third party, the Image Archive of the Würth Collection will, subject to further claims for damages, charge an additional fee amounting to 200 percent of the usual user fee.
- Our general terms and conditions apply.

☐ I agree to the above terms and conditions.*

☐ I agree to the storage of my data for the purpose of internal processing.*
